

description of it was that it was not an affidavit, but merely a signed statement. It was written in ink on blue, wrinkled paper and there were four or more sheets to it.

Attorney O'Brien would not state the circumstances by which the statement came into his possession. He proclaimed his view that if White is found he will prove that the prosecution of Shepherd is a conspiracy.

Statement by Defense.

Later Attorney Stewart and O'Brien decided to leave this statement.

"We have an affidavit from the witness White which covers eight pages in his own handwriting. It describes the manner in which he was urged by Falman to corroborate Falman and the manner in which he went to the state's attorney's office and identified Shepherd. White says, as a matter of fact, he never saw Shepherd and that he knows that this entire case against Shepherd, as far as Falman is concerned, is a frameup.

"If any one suggests that his absence is in any way brought about by someone connected with the defense, we would say that such conduct by any one connected with the defense would be ill advised, because this witness would materially assist and bear out the theory of the defense.

Would Help Hunt Him.

"After giving this affidavit any one can readily see that if White testified to the same matters on the stand he would destroy the state's case. He is in the other hand, he chose to testify to his original identification of Shepherd, in a position, by reason of this affidavit, to completely discredit his testimony and to disclose the frame-up behind the prosecution.

"So it is to our interest, in either event, to have White as a witness. If there is any way we can help to get him we would be glad to assist."

Woman Hits Defense.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert McMillan was conducting an investigation into White's disappearance, and while Stewart and O'Brien were making the foregoing statement, Mrs. Georgiana Briggs, White's landlady, was giving this statement:

"Mr. White came home the night he disappeared and told me that he was in a room full of men and immediately picked out Shepherd as the man he had seen with Falman at the scene. He said he knew him at once by his face and his eyes."

On the night White disappeared, Shepherd, Attorney Stewart was in the room with Shepherd. White identified Shepherd out and said "That is the man." Shepherd, without knowing more about it, is said to have cried out: "You are a liar and Attorney Stewart emphasized this with 'You're a damn liar.'"

White left the room, saying to newspaper men:

"I can never forget those bulging eyes."

Called Accusers "Liars."

Later White reentered the room and asked Shepherd: "Don't you remember me? You came to Falman's school and asked to see the registrar. You and I talked."

Shepherd's reply was: "The man lying, the same as Dr. Falman is."

It was the fourth time Shepherd had been identified and the fourth time he had replied "Liar" to his accusers, the previous three being Dr. Falman, John P. Marchand, and Falman.

The state considered that at least significant.

Assistant State's Attorney Joseph P. Savage said last night that no one had called out "White" that night, he appeared at the Criminal Court building and that White merely had been asked into the room where Shepherd was seated and asked if he could pick out the man he [White] had described as a visitor of Falman.

It was learned White had not been home since Friday. Then came the word that White had not only left his home, but his wife had given away her household articles. Soon after came word that White was A. W. O. L. with a rented car.

A police message had been sent out asking for White's arrest for the theft of the automobile. He had rented the car and should have returned it not later than Sunday. The license number, 149012, was broadcast.

Tells How Whites Left.

Mrs. Marie Budlove, 4143 Erie avenue, a friend of Mrs. White and the recipient of the household articles, said the Whites had driven up to her house in the car Friday and announced they had purchased the automobile for $4,000. They said they would call on her Sunday. Mrs. Budlove asserted, but they failed to do so. She has not seen them since.

Mrs. Budlove gave this letter to the state's attorney's office.

"Dear Marie (It was undated): I

JOHN TOMAN ELECTED TO JOSEPH KOSTNER'S CITY COUNCIL SEAT

John Toman, member of the board of local improvements and former alderman, was re-elected to the city council this time to succeed the late Ald. Joseph O. Kostner, in a special election held in the Twenty-third ward yesterday. He received a total of 8,845 votes, a majority of 7,138 over his only opponent, Frank Kozumplik, a Bohemian newspaper editor who was given only 2,704 votes.

The balloting, according to election officials, was marked by disorder in several precincts.

RAILROADS WON'T FINANCE RIVER STRAIGHTENING

So City Declares It Is Ready to Do It.

City administration hopes that railroad interested in the development of the near south side terminal district would undertake the straightening of the river from Polk to 16th street, and the opening of four new traffic arteries from the loop to the south side, were decided in yesterday's conference between the rail executives and a council committee sub-group.

JAMES E. GORMAN.

The railroad executives viewed the projects as public improvements, with little relation to their terminal scheme. Ald. E. J. Kaindl (34th), chairman of the council committee, thereupon announced that the city was prepared to proceed with the projects if the railroads would agree to waive objections to special assessment against their holdings to finance the cost.

To appear Monday.

James E. Gorman, president of the Rock Island railroad and spokesman for other roads, promised to appear before a special meeting of the full terminal committee next Monday, with reports of the railroads' progress on the proposed $300,000,000 passenger station. He will report also on what attitude may be expected toward the special assessment.

Landlord railroads now housed in the Dearborn street, La Salle, and the Grand Central stations have practically agreed on a consolidated passenger terminal with 38 main tracks in the headhouse and loop tracks sufficient to handle their combined suburban traffic, Mr. Gorman declared.

They are still discussing the location of the terminal.

The New York Central-Rock Island lines, plan would place the new station on Harrison street, immediately behind the site of the present La Salle street structure. While the Dearborn and the Grand Central groups are insisting upon its location on the sites of their terminals.

Business Men to Arbitrate.

Silas H. Strawn has been pressed into service by Commissioner of Public Works A. A. Sprague, with several other business men, to serve as an arbitration board to expedite agreement between the railroads on the allocation of property which must be transferred and exchanged when the river's course is changed.

SOCIALISTS AIM BLOW AT AIDS OF HINDENBURG

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BERLIN, May 19.—Count Westarp, leader of Germany's nationalists and monarchists, in the reichstag today openly demanded "amendments to the constitution of Weimar," which he said could be made by a special committee. He said the question of broadening the rights of the president and the matter of the colors of the flag could be handled by such a committee.

Count Westarp expressed indignation over the fact that "some elements refused to believe that President von Hindenburg really meant his oath to the republic."

"For us an oath is not an empty formula," he continued. "We have not the slightest fear that a man like Gen. von Hindenburg will fail to keep his oath. Gen. von Hindenburg's election does not mean that we approve the republican democratic parliamentary system."

If the nationalists succeed in forcing the creation of a committee to revise the constitution, the first step toward the return of the monarchy will be taken.

The Democrats and Republicans are aware of this danger, and in answer to Count Westarp's speech the Socialists tonight brought in a motion to vote no confidence in the government, and this will be read officially before the reichstag tomorrow. They base their motion on a "conviction that Foreign Minister Stresemann and Chancellor Luther are unable to co-operate with the Nationalist influence."

Nevertheless, political circles believe that a crisis will be avoided since the Socialist leader Breitscheid, as well as the Nationalist leader Count Westarp, in their big speeches today in the South Bend, Ind., May 19.—(United Press.)—American newspapers are the best in the world, not only in the care and accuracy with which they are edited and published, but in the comprehensiveness of their news resources, Karl A. Blosket, president of the United Press associations, said tonight in an address before the Knife and Fork club.

"There is not a city of 75,000 inhabitants in the United States that does not have an afternoon newspaper superior to the best afternoon newspapers published in the great capitals of Europe. In the morning field there is no newspaper published in Europe that is the equal of The Chicago Tribune or the New York Times. No London newspaper has either the news service or resources of a newspaper such as The Chicago Tribune."

Herr Breitscheid, the spokesman for the Socialists, built his speech around the fundamental plan of the Socialists and Democrats—a United States of Europe.

MANY WORDS ON REDISTRICTING, BUT NO DECISION

Fergus and Fifer in Committee Plea.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Springfield, Ill., May 19.—(Special.)—Three gray haired men whose memories of Chicago run back to early days debated before a legislative joint committee today over the power that city should be permitted to have in the affairs of state government.

One was John A. Fergus, born in Chicago 53 years ago, who demanded full representation, based on population, as the constitution guaranteed, but which legislatures since 1901 have denied. Another was Joseph W. Fifer, 58, of Washington, former governor of Illinois, who, with Louis A. Jarman of Rushville, a leading downstate lawyer, contended that it would be ruinous to the state for Chicago to gain control of the law making body.

Carry on Con. Con. Fight.
Fifer and Jarman were delegates in the last constitutional convention, where they led the fight for restriction of Cook county. They won their fight then, but the document which they and their colleagues wrote was rejected at the polls. They took up their fight today where they left off in the convention in 1922.

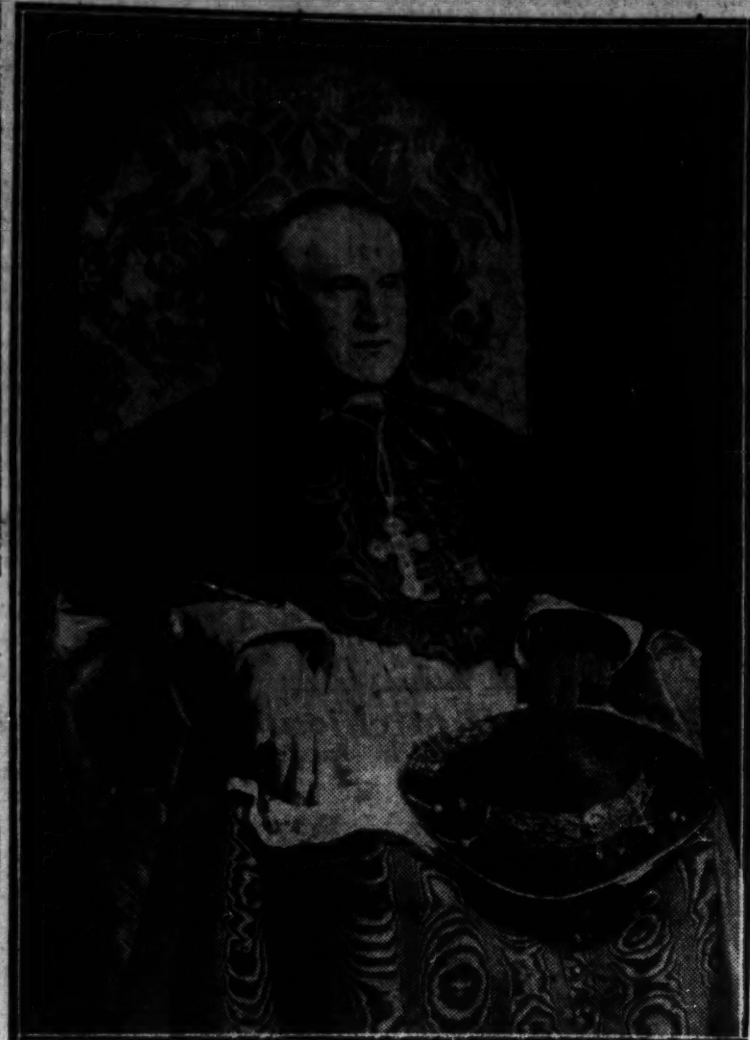

The committee, which had intended to act today on a resolution creating a special committee to draft a Cook county limitation amendment to the constitution, adjourned without action. Chairman Choleser (Rep., Franklin) said the committee probably would act tomorrow on the two pending bills to redistrict the state in accordance with the existing provisions of the constitution.

Says It's Up to Basic Law.
"There will never be a reapportionment in Illinois until the constitution is amended," Baneroff said. Mr. Fergus was brief in his demands for obedience to the constitution. He has threatened to institute court action against legislators who oppose a reapportionment at this session. "Cook county pays 66 per cent of all the money paid into the state treasury," he said. "Whatever you want money, whenever you want help, come to Chicago. You are always willing to take but want to give nothing but trouble." If a reapportionment is not made, there is bound to be trouble.

Point to the Nation.
Fifer and Jarman said every large city in America is limited in its legislative representation and that population is not and never was the sole basis for representation. The colonies, they said, were political subdivisions, with equal voices in the United States senate, and all states are equal. Chicago, Mr. Jarman declared, eventually will be able by its votes to control the whole executive branch of the state government and will thus control all state departments, bureaus, and agencies, and should be limited in the legislative branch.

Thompson Bill Beaten.
The house today killed the Lundin-Thompson transportation district bill, which once passed under the slogan

City to See Two Cardinals Today

Cardinal Hayes of New York, who will be the guest of Cardinal Mundelein, his old schoolmate, today. Both cardinals were given their red hats at the same consistory, March 24, 1924.

CARDINAL HAYES ARRIVING TODAY FOR BRIEF VISIT

Will Be Guest of Cardinal Mundelein.

There is to be little of the pomp and ceremony when Cardinal Hayes of New York arrives this morning for a forty-eight hour visit with Cardinal Mundelein.

The two ecclesiastical princes were elevated to the cardinalate at the same consistory, March 24, 1924. They were schoolmates before that. The stay of the New York prelate, his first coming to Chicago since the elevation, is to be in the nature of an informal visit to his old friend.

Sixteen to Meet Him.
When Cardinal Hayes steps from the Illinois Central train at 11:30, daylight saving time, this morning, he will be met by a group of eight priests and eight laymen. It was announced at the chancery office yesterday.

The Rt. Rev. Mr. B. J. Shell, chancellor of the archdiocese, will head the delegation of priests. The others will be the Rt. Rev. Monsignor William M. Foley, T. V. Shannon, M. E. Kiley, T. A. Rempe, B. A. Kelly, and J. F. Ryan. D. F. Kelly, knight commander of the order of St. Gregory, will be at the head of the laymen; Robert M. Swelber, Joseph McCarthy, and Anthony Czarnicki, all knights of the order; Thomas Cannon, high chief ranger of the Catholic Order of Foresters; Edward Houlihan, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus; and J. P. B. Murphy of the Hibernian State bank. Others beside this official delegation are expected to join the welcoming committee.

Will Wait at Home.

Cardinal Mundelein will remain at his home at 1555 North State street, to welcome his guest there. It is here that the New York cardinal will be greeted by a group high in the Roman Catholic church in America, who have gathered in Chicago: the Most Rev. Jeremiah J. Hart, bishop of Omaha; the Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of Pittsburgh; the Rt. Rev. Peter J. Muldoon, bishop of Rockford; and the Rt. Rev. Francis C. Kelley, bishop of Oklahoma.

Marie's father obtained the restraining order in the North Bergen, N. J., police court.

DIXIE LOCHINVAR WOOS, WINS BRIDE WITH AUTO AND GUN

New Orleans, La., May 19.—(A. P.)—"We're married." With this laconic statement William Rumsey, 25, sought since yesterday afternoon as the kidnaper of Miss Corinne Walter, 20, greeted police and reporters who found them today in a newly furnished bungalow.

Rumsey adopted cave man tactics to win his bride, he said, because of opposition. He did not say whose opposition. Appearing yesterday at the office where Miss Walter was employed as a stenographer, he produced a revolver and commanded her to accompany him.

She refused, whereupon Rumsey picked her up and carried her to a waiting automobile. He departed in "high" with other employees of the office sounding a hurry call for the police.

Today anxious searchers located the pair. Mrs. Rumsey wore a crisp pink gingham apron. Both wore broad smiles. "She doesn't look as if she'd been kidnapped, does she?" the groom demanded of a policeman.

The policeman grinned. "I should say not," he agreed, heartily. And the search was over.

MENTAL TESTS TO PRECEDE TRIAL IN CITY COURTS

From this time on suspected lunatics who are arraigned in Municipal court will be sent to the psychopathic hospital for examination before the original charges against them are pressed, Dr. William Hiebson, head of the municipal psychopathic laboratory, announced yesterday. The statement ends a controversy between the doctor and County Judge Weaver. If the patients are found sane they will be returned for hearing; otherwise they will be committed to institutions.

Forest Fires Break Out Anew in North Wisconsin

Laona, Wis., May 19.—(A. P.)—Serious fires have broken out again in timber near here, forest rangers reported late this afternoon. National Guardsmen, whose order to return home was rescinded late yesterday, were out in force at dawn.

Inaugurate Machado as President of Cuba Today

Havana, Cuba, May 19.—(A. P.)—Gen. Gerardo Machado tomorrow will be inaugurated as fifth president of the Cuban republic. Gen. Machado will find conditions much different from those which confronted his predecessor, Alfredo Sotelo. The election of Sotelo was stormy. It was contested to the last moment, even requiring a decision by the supreme court. Revolution was threatened. Gen. Machado's election was peaceful.

HOUSE DEFIES SMALL GRAB AT DRAINAGE POWERAdvances Bill After He Threatens Veto.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—[Special.]—Small's senate and house forces today in revolt against his attitude toward the Chicago sanitary district. The governor today introduced a bill which would make the trustees of the district dependent on the pleasure of the governor.

After a conference at which Gov. Small told house leaders he would not support the sanitary districts' new bill, which would make the trustees of the district dependent on the pleasure of the governor, the bill was advanced to the house.

The bill will be passed by the house tomorrow and sent immediately to the senate where it will be placed on the calendar and advanced without reference to a committee, according to the plan mapped out by the leaders to defeat the governor's strongest supporters have quit him so far as sanitary district legislation are concerned.

McClurg's Bill Ready.
Representative McClurg (Dem., Peoria), sponsor of the first bill, which the governor vetoed, was ready today to call his new measure for advancement when the governor showed his hand. McClurg feels that his new bill meets all the objections mentioned by Gov. Small in his veto message. It makes the same increase in bonding power that the original bill did, but requires the district to specify the purposes for which bonds are to be issued, and requires a referendum on all bond issues after Jan. 1, 1926, except on bonds for plant construction work, and on any Illinois valley claims against the district.

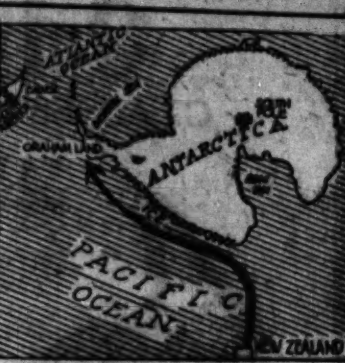

What Governor Wants.
The governor's bill requires the sanitary board to make monthly reports to the state finance department, failure to do so carrying the penalty of ouster from office. Another section of the governor's bill requires that all plans, specifications and contracts made by the trustees must be approved by the state department of purchases and construction. Vacancies on the drainage board would be filled by the governor. Trustees could be removed for any infraction of rules laid down by the governor.

The bill also provides that in the appraisal of any real estate transaction by the board, two of the appraisers must be named by the state government. Under the present system appraisers are named by the Chicago Real Estate board.

The sanitary district is a separate municipality created by special law and the votes of the people and this was the only reason given today for failure of the governor's bill to abolish the district or make the drainage board an agency of the state government.

When the governor's plan was learned today a conference between the sanitary trustees and leaders of all Republican and Democratic factions represented in the legislature was held in Speaker Scholer's office. The verdict was unanimous for the McClurg bill and against the governor's program.

FLY IN ANTARCTICS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

SYDNEY, May 19.—Capt. George Wilkins, the explorer, just returned from an adventurous tour of central and northern Australia, announces that he intends to lead an expedition into Antarctica. He hopes to be in Antarctic waters, ready to start an airplane flight, in January.

Capt. Wilkins had many exciting experiences with uncivilized blacks. One night he awoke and found a party of blacks with raised spears surrounding his bunk. Believing the Australian natives would not attack an unaggressive white man, he pretended he was asleep, when the blacks disappeared as quickly as they came.

The next morning they approached again, with spears similarly raised. This time Capt. Wilkins spoke, when they dropped their spears and bowed. Subsequently they returned when they realized that Capt. Wilkins was friendly, and entered the camp and became agreeable companions.

Capt. Wilkins investigated the mystery of the lost steamer Douglas Mawson, supposed to have been wrecked in the Gulf of Carpentaria and a white woman captured by the blacks. There are so many conflicting stories that Capt. Wilkins proposes to recommend to the government to send a party with ethnological knowledge of the locality to live with the natives, and acquire their language and learn their customs, and thus ascertain the true facts.

OPENS WAY TO BOOST CHICAGO
SCHOOL TAXES

BY PARKE BROWN.

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—[Special.]—After it had been advanced to third reading, it was discovered today that Senate Bill 399 would open the way for an increase of approximately $50,000,000 a year in Chicago school taxes. The discovery was made by Harry Keeler, director of the Chicago Bureau of Public Efficiency. It also is said that a large number of school districts in down-state sections would be affected by the bill.

The measure was introduced by Senator John H. Hamilton (Mattoon), but it was drafted by the High School Superintendents' Association.

What Measure Provides.
The bill provides that a school district may levy additional taxes for the maintenance of grades 9, 10, 11, and 12 in addition to the lower eight grades, these taxes not to exceed 2 per cent for educational purposes and three-fourths of a percent for building purposes. This means $3 and 76 cents, respectively, for the two funds on each $100 of assessed valuation. This would produce nearly $50,000,000 in Chicago.

There is a referendum provision in the bill, but because of the Chicago school tax situation, it is believed that senators from that city will uniformly oppose the bill.

Senator H. S. Burgess' bill for the creation of a state uniform tax book commission was killed by the committee on education.

Women's Bills Passed.
The senate passed the three bills providing that women shall have equal rights and duties with men in jury service. The same bills were tabled in a house committee recently.

The question whether a $25,000 monument to honor the 57th infantry, a Negro regiment, will be built at Thirty-fifth street and Grand avenue, Chicago, is up to Gov. Small. The senate today passed the house appropriation bill for it.

When the governor's plan was learned today a conference between the sanitary trustees and leaders of all Republican and Democratic factions represented in the legislature was held in Speaker Scholer's office. The verdict was unanimous for the McClurg bill and against the governor's program.

The bill also provides that in the appraisal of any real estate transaction by the board, two of the appraisers must be named by the state government. Under the present system appraisers are named by the Chicago Real Estate board.

The sanitary district is a separate municipality created by special law and the votes of the people and this was the only reason given today for failure of the governor's bill to abolish the district or make the drainage board an agency of the state government.

HANDS OF DEATH

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by auto, guns, and moonshiners in Cook county since Jan. 1. Yesterday was the one hundred and thirty-ninth day of 1926.

Chicago Has That Rare Day
—One of No Speed Deaths

Cook county motorists and pedestrians were treated yesterday to a motor deathless day, no fatalities having been reported. The year's toll remained at 261. The body of the aged man fatally injured Monday morning when he was struck by a motor truck while attempting to cross West Lake street near Oakley avenue was yesterday identified as that of Samuel Bandome, 78 years old, 3215 Fulton street.

Mussolini Puts Through Law to Choke Masonry

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ROME, May 19.—Premier Mussolini has forced passage of the anti-masonry bill, aimed at Freemasonry. Saturday night, after he had made a heroic speech, saying the anti-masonry bill must be passed within five minutes, it was found that the congressmen had quietly slipped out of the hall and a vote was impossible. Between Saturday night and this afternoon something happened. At 5 p. m. 304 congressmen were present. Three hundred and four voted for Premier Mussolini's measure.

SECRET SERVICE
CHIEF HONORED
BY 20 RELATIVES

Twenty relatives and close friends participated in a celebration last night in honor of the 75th birthday of Capt. Thomas I. Porter, veteran head of the United States secret service in Chicago. The celebration was held at the home of Capt. Porter's daughter, Mrs. Thomas W. Hay, 4124 Blackstone avenue.

By the captain's side as he received the congratulations of his guests was his wife, Mrs. Mable Porter, to whom he was married several years ago. The party, in a sense, was also in honor of the withdrawal from active duties of Capt. Porter. He is scheduled to go into retirement on June 15 at the completion of 40 years' service with the government.

GERMANY PLANS
HIGH TARIFF ON ALL ITS IMPORTS

BERLIN, May 19.—[U. N. J.—] New tariff schedules providing large increases all through the import list from wheat to automobiles were announced today.

Automobiles, maize, dyestuffs, chemicals, rye, barley, wheat, chilled, fresh, frozen, and tinned meats, lard, bacon, textiles, and manufactured silks will suffer under the new imports, but it remains to be seen whether or not the high duties have not been set up as much to encourage other nations to negotiate commercial treaties with Germany as to protect the German market. Before the war of 1914, France boosted her tariffs for just such a treaty-making purpose, and virtually converted Europe to free trade.

All the foodstuffs affected heretofore have been on the free list. The higher duties on artificial silk and the increased automobile tariff are frankly attributed to American competition.

Perhaps you think it's a bit previous to wear a straw hat, but there's no harm in buying ahead of time.

Complete stock of Summer straws.

Prices from $3.50.

COLOR FEELING IN PHILIPPINES PERIL TO PEACE

Blacks Would Be Tan;
Tans Want White Hues.

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

(Copyright, 1925, by The Chicago Tribune.)
MANILA, May 19.—The least anti-American of the outspoken independent political groups in the Philippines is the Veterans, who come under the natural leadership of Emilio Aguinaldo, the old insurgent leader. These are the men, all now long past middle age, who revolted against Spain and then offered a guerrilla opposition to American occupation of the islands. It is one of the curious kinks of the Philippine problem that these men who met American arms in the field and who were hunted for months by American soldiers, today hold the best native feeling toward the United States.

GEN. AGUINALDO.

It would be incorrect to say that they are pro-American. Privately and publicly they hope for the eventual autonomy of their country. They are Filipinos who know from practice and experience how agitation leads to violence. In the benefits that the islands enjoy today they see the fruits of their revolutionary efforts. The reasons that produced the revolt against Spain are non-existent today. The Veterans are politicians and old soldiers who know the cost of war as well as they know the political use of the word "liberty."

Seek Lighter Hues.
The principal difference between the Veterans and the Filipino political bosses is a biological one. Manuel Queson is a Spanish mestizo. Sergio Omena is a Chinese mestizo. Aguinaldo and his followers have less of the blood of conquerors and invaders in their veins. With a few notable exceptions, the Veteran group is drawn from the darker skinned Malayan stock which is the basic native stock of the entire archipelago. The greater Queson and Omena build up Filipino hatred against the white skinned Americans, the greater the feeling they are acquiring for further racial antagonisms between the darker skinned Malayans and the lighter skinned Spanish and Chinese mestizos.

This feeling runs deep today. The Filipino woman, of whatever hue, prefers a man of lighter hue as a mate. She is conscious of her color. The inferiority complex is ever present, even though the possessor is unconscious of it. The natural mother instinct toward a higher estate for her children manifests itself in the selection of lighter colored mates. It is not difficult to imagine that this condition adds nothing to the popularity of the light skinned mestizos among the darker skinned Filipinos.

Always Class Antagonism.

It is not uncommon in Manila for a Filipino woman of means, who is approaching motherhood, to make a long voyage to Spain in order that her child may be born in Madrid and there take on the white nationality of a Spaniard. This is the racial difference that exists between the mestizo political bosses and the mass of darker skinned Filipinos. The color question will always remain a source of antagonism and division in the islands. As the darker skinned Filipinos feel it towards their mestizo politicians, so do these same mestizo leaders feel it against Americans. Queson and Omena are just as conscious of it in their dealings with Americans as Aguinaldo and his Veterans are in their dealings with Queson and Omena. There are a number of Americans in the islands with Filipino wives and half caste children. One of them is at present the governor of a province. There are a few American women who married Filipino students in America and went to the islands to run the consequences of their school girl mistakes. There are hundreds of American mestizos, the offspring of American soldiers.

Color Line Strongly Defined.
There are American mestizo girls, daughters of soldiers of '98, who attend some of the finest girls' schools in America. They do not carry the names of their fathers and the source of their income and schooling is unknown to many of them. The line of demarcation between the colors is strongly defined. Socially, the whites will not mix with the browns and yellows. At the army posts, attempts to have joint club and recreation grounds for American and native soldiers result always in the withdrawal of the Americans from the project.

Filipino officers are not barred from the Army and Navy club in Manila, but they never visit it. American women do not dance with Filipinos irrespective of their class or station. At official affairs, brown, yellow, and white meet on an equal footing, but there the contact ends. The result is always the same. The educated mestizo feels this barrier which was not held against him by the Spaniard.

WOMAN OF 18 IS MISSING.
Police were asked to look last night for Mrs. Myrtle Newton, 18 years old, 733 North La Salle street, who has been missing for a week. According to her husband, Lee Newton, Mrs. Newton was visiting her aunt in Syracuse, N. Y., and left for home.

FRENCH CABINET FALL OVER MOOR CRISIS FEARED

British Navy Aid to Subdue Riffs Sought.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, May 19.—The seriousness of the Moroccan situation was admitted today by a Quai d'Orsay spokesman, following the publication this morning in various newspapers, including those of the socialist and radical socialist organizations, of pessimistic reports from Paris, and unconfirmed anxiety over the present policy, which is leading to warfare on large, costly dimensions against Abd-el-Krim.

The government's spokesman indicated that France is seeking to organize a combined three power offensive against the Rifians, with French and Spanish troops and the British navy cooperating.

Despite repeated demands of the left press, the war ministry maintained silence regarding the casualties in Morocco, and it is stifling all information concerning reinforcements sent to Marshal Lyautey.

4,000 New Troops on Scene.

One newspaper says that 4,000 troops already have arrived in Morocco to reinforce the 30,000 now there, and may be on the way.

The communiques for the last few days have been silent about Gen. De Chambrun, while eulogizing the work of Gen. Colombar and Col. Freydenberg, both of whom are in the front line. Masses of bullets from the Rifians penetrated Gen. Colombar's leg and Col. Freydenberg's horse was shot from under him.

Political authorities predict the fall of the government next week when parliament opens, as the left cartel, on which the Poincaré cabinet relies for a majority vote, opposes the Moroccan campaign—particularly the socialists, who have 165 votes. It is learned that the government will not accept the center and right support for a vote of confidence, and will resign if the left goes against it.

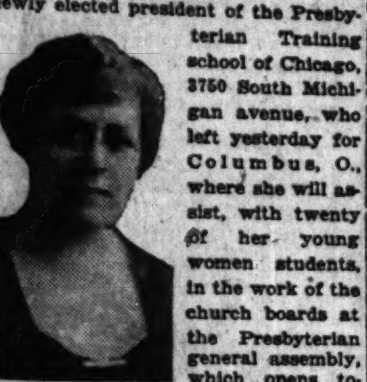

Repeal of Colonial Policy.

A significant note was adopted by the radical party Sunday in reflecting former Premier Herriot, mayor of Lyons. It said:

"We repudiate France's colonial policy, which is a permanent source of conflict. The newspaper Quotidien, an official mouthpiece of the radical socialists, today prints an article quoting from various Moroccan newspapers, condemning Marshal Lyautey's policy, and accusing him of concentrating his attention on censoring the press and throttling newspaper correspondents and negotiating warnings of Abd-el-Krim's intentions to attack.

100 INJURED AS FIRE STARTS N. Y. SUBWAY PANIC

New York, May 19. (A. P.)—A fire in a smoke filled, unlighted tunnel, thirty feet underground, 100 persons were killed and 100 injured in a panic which followed a short circuit which set off an east side subway train at the Grand Central station today.

Eighty-six of the victims received treatment at first aid stations hastily organized in nearby hotels and in the street.

100 Persons in Train.

There were probably 1,000 persons in the car steel train, a southbound train from Bronx Park. Fully half of them were stampeded into the panic as the smoke clouds toward exits, which were in some instances, six blocks from the scene of the accident.

At 41st street, a block below the Grand Central station, there was a loud report, and a sheet of flames came from between the fifth and sixth cars. The "jumpers" which connect the cars electrically had "shorted." The lights flickered out as the motorman, Harry Post, shut off the train current and threw on his brakes.

The real excitement occurred a few moments later after Post had started his train. He had run less than a block when there was another flash and all the lights on the train, with the exception of a few emergency bulbs blew out.

Emergency doors, which the train crew fought vainly to keep closed.

Post, a veteran motorman of eight years' experience, groped his way to an emergency power switch and turned off the power in the third rail.

Traffic in the east side tubes was discontinued for more than forty minutes before police and road employees had repaired the damage. At Merritt, traffic superintendent of the Interborough Rapid Transit company, paid high tribute to the presence of mind displayed by Motorman Post, saying his action in switching off the third rail power undoubtedly had saved many lives.

Partly hidden by clouds high above the lake front, an army airplane flew yesterday afternoon. And scores of land fighters—infantry, cavalry, and artillery—gathered in Grant Park stadium, heard the aviator's voice as he described air conditions, and looks of the city, and his attitude.

AVIATOR TALKS WITH LAND UNITS AS SHOW NEARS

show which opens tomorrow afternoon in the stadium.

While the plane hummed like a bee half a mile in the air, from the loud speakers in the stadium the notes fairly crackled. But through the crackle the pilot's voice came clearly. The demonstration of communications from the air with large numbers of personnel was declared perfect.

Officers last night received word from the war department that the plane Boston II, that was one of the ships to attack the world tour of American planes, is being sent here. The plane will be on exhibition in the stadium during the entire show.

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved

CAPT. BAXTER, FAMOUS LAKE SKIPPER, DIES

One of the last of the old time lake captains that made nautical history in "heavy weather" sailing out of Chicago harbor was buried yesterday in Goderich, Ont. He was Capt. William Baxter. A sister, Mrs. Edwin Brown, 1421 Birchwood avenue, survives.

He had the reputation of being the first skipper out in the spring and the last in when winter came. Once during a tugboat handlers' strike here Capt. Baxter brought a huge ore vessel up the river under his own power, a feat rarely attempted.

His father before him was a lake and north Atlantic sailing captain. Capt. Baxter's last command was the So-nora.

SEE $50,000,000 INVOLVED IN JAP BANK-SHIP FIGHT

Suit Reveals a Strange Business Tangle.

BY RODERICK MATHESON.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

TOKIO, May 19.—The institution yesterday of a suit against the T. K. K. a steamship company, by the Hongkong-Shanghai bank for 140,000 yen ($70,000) advanced by the bank on a bill of lading for a Takata company cargo which the steamship company delivered to the consignee on letters of guarantee from the Mitsubishi bank, is regarded as the first step of a far reaching economic war in which 100,000,000 yen [$50,000,000] is involved.

The Takata company failure uncovered a system whereby consignees hypothecated bills of lading, later taking deliveries under letters of guarantee issued by other banks. Following the Takata bankruptcy, the banks demanded cargoes under bills of lading, whereupon the steamship lines fell back upon letters of guarantee. It was discovered that the Japanese banks had not authorized the issue of the latter, and they are refusing to honor the guarantees, leaving the steamship lines to hold the sack.

For weeks past there has been pressure on the banks to pay, it being pointed out that repudiation of signatures will endanger Japanese credit abroad.

Now the Hongkong-Shanghai bank has broken the deadlock by entering suit and bringing the controversy into the open. Every steamship in Yokohama and Kobe is involved, but American lines are the least affected.

KEEP DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME, PLEA TO SOLONS

Every state senator of Illinois yesterday received a letter from William R. Dawes, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, protesting against the passage of a law which would deprive Chicago of daylight saving time. Such a measure is now pending, and reports are current that it has won favor in Springfield.

Mr. Dawes' letter pointed out that Chicago adopted daylight saving time by a referendum vote, and that it carried by a large majority. The new scheme is satisfactory to Chicagoans, the letter says, and Mr. Dawes sees no reason why the assembly should interfere with purely Chicago affairs.

Although not stated in as many words, it was evident that the Association of Commerce feels that the pending measure is another attempt on the part of distant politicians to meddle in Chicago affairs and further curb the city's home rule.

The strike of transport workers is costing the nation 10,000,000 kroner (roughly $2,000,000) weekly.

NO EULOGY AT MILES' FUNERAL; WE NEEDED NONE

BY WALTER RODERICK

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—The body of Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles rests tonight in the marble mausoleum on the brow of Arlington, overlooking the nation's capital. It was placed there this afternoon with military pomp and ceremony. The funeral was held at 2 p. m. at the Lincoln Memorial, where the body was placed in the mausoleum. The funeral was held at 2 p. m. at the Lincoln Memorial, where the body was placed in the mausoleum.

President Coolidge, Gen. Pershing, and other notables of the nation, representing every arm of the federal government and almost every state in the union, paid tribute to the great soldier. There was no eulogy. Gen. Miles needed none. His eulogy has stood on the printed pages of history for many years. The simple rites of the Episcopal church were read at the church and at the tomb.

French 75's, placed upon the grassy slopes of Civil War days, boomed a salute of fifteen guns at minute intervals as the procession moved into the National cemetery. Troops of the regular army fired three volleys as the flag draped, steel gray casket was placed in its marble setting. Then a bugle played the soldier's sadder good night—Taps.

That was all, save that the army band played the favorite hymn of the veteran hero of Chancellorsville, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," just before the white robed minister read the offices for the dead. It was as Gen. Miles had wished it—in every respect a soldier's funeral.

Soldiers Carry Casket. Early in the afternoon the casket was borne from the Rochambeau apartments on the shoulders of six stalwarts of the regular army, placed upon a caisson drawn by six bay horses and taken to St. John's Episcopal church. A detachment of the Third cavalry formed the escort through lanes of solidly packed citizens standing with bowed heads. The army band played "Nearer My God to Thee," as the casket was borne into the little edifice.

The services were short. The procession moved on past the White House and over the bridge which spans the Potomac to Arlington. At its head rode Brig. Gen. Rockenbach, commander of the District of Washington, and his staff. Then came the spick cavalry escort, a battalion of the 16th field artillery, a battalion of engineers, the 13th infantry, a battalion of marines from Quantico and a detachment of sailors from the Norfolk naval base.

The troops marched at quick time across the river while the three bands which interspersed the procession played the religious marches, "Our Fallen Hero," "Fathetic," and "Rehearsal." Beside the caisson rode a grimed sergeant bearing the three starred blue pennant of a lieutenant general and behind it in automobiles came the next of kin, the general's daughter, Mrs. Samuel Rober, his son, Maj. Sherman Miles, and the two grandchildren who were at the circus with their famous grandfathers when he died.

Then followed the honorary pallbearers: Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, acting chief of staff; Hugh L. Scott, Oswald E. Ernst, John L. Clem, Henry T. Allen, and William M. Black; rear Admiral George Baird, Brig. Gen. Edward J. McClelland and John A. Johnston and Truxton Beale, son of the late Maj. Gen. Beale.

Old Veterans There. Veterans who fought in Gen. Miles' division at Chancellorsville and Sharpsburg came in the cars behind, and a group of Spanish war veterans who served under him as commanding general of the army followed afoot. Among the organizations represented were the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, of which Gen. Miles was elected commander in chief last year; Grand Army of the Potomac, Indian War Veterans' society, United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Dames of the Loyal Legion, and Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

At the south gate to the cemetery the mounted detachments left the procession, which wound its way up the twisting road to the slow dirge of funeral marches. Uniforms of other nations—military attaches of the embassies and legations—blended with the olive drab as the military of high rank moved on foot across the lawn to the mausoleum.

Throngs lined the roadside the entire distance, and so great was the press in the cemetery that ropes had to be strung by soldiers from tree to tree to hold back the crowd and permit a space sufficient for the military and those participating in the ceremony. But the hush was such that those standing many ranks away could hear the white robed actor of St. John's, the Rev. Dr. Robert Johnson, quelling the burial of the dead: "Death is swallowed up in victory."

CRIME FIGHTERS SEEK NEW CODE FOR THIS STATE

Would End Grand Juries; Speed Trials.

New criminal laws for Illinois, drawn with the advice of the bench, the bar, the police and all law-enforcing agencies, were urged yesterday at a meeting of a committee of the Chicago crime commission.

The new code would have such innovations as abolition of the grand jury and other procedures which tend toward delay. There would be a revision of the penalties for certain crimes.

It was suggested that the police department have a regular legal department to guide its officials from the moment a crime was discovered.

"As it is now," Charles R. Holden, president of the commission, pointed out, "the state's attorney's office is given a case to prosecute some months after the crime has been committed. The prosecutors have nothing to act on but the police investigation, which usually has disregarded all legal points."

All the Cook county and many other judges will be asked for suggestions, as will Chief Collins and other members of the police force. Members of the crime commission will study methods of other states and of foreign countries. "It took England decades to reform its code," said T. E. Donnelly, chairman of the committee. "We in Chicago can do it in vastly shorter time if we devote our energies to it."

"There now are too many steps in criminal law procedure," Mr. Holden said. "A criminal with money has a dozen time-consuming methods at hand. Indictments are obsolete. There should be one trial and no continuances."

WILKERSON BARS MAILS TO RISQUE LOCAL MAGAZINE

Assistant United States District Attorney James A. O'Callaghan yesterday informed the postmaster general at Washington that Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson had sustained his action in denying the use of the mails to a Chicago publication which he terms indecent.

Judge Wilkerson's action followed mandamus proceedings brought by the editor of the magazine against Postmaster A. C. Lueder.

Meanwhile Prosecutor O'Callaghan continued to compile a list of publications termed "indecent, filthy, and lascivious, which tend to undermine the morals of our youth," which he will recommend for the same fate as the publication already barred from the mails.

Mr. O'Callaghan has asked the aid of the various women's clubs throughout the country in the drive to abolish the publication of obscene literature.

$32,640, RECORD PRICE, PAID FOR AMERICAN BOOK

New York, May 19.—(AP)—The highest price ever paid for an American printed book, $32,640, was given for the Indian translation of Richard Baxter's "A Call to the Unconverted," Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach of Philadelphia, said today on his return from Europe, where he purchased rare books and manuscripts at a cost of $2,000,000.

Among other rare books brought back by him is the correspondence between George Washington and Arthur Young, once president of the Agricultural Institute of Great Britain. A manuscript entitled "Arden of Faversham," said to have been written by Shakespeare, and many letters of well-known English and French men of letters of the seventeenth century.

Referring to the Baxter book, Dr. Rosenbach said: "It is most interesting to Americans because it left this country more than 250 years ago and only now is returning to the land of its origin." The book, he said, is the only extant copy in the world.

a tangible sales force

Communities vary in sales opportunity . . .

National advertisers desire circulation which most nearly coincides with greatest sales opportunity.

The factors generally accepted as forming an index to sales potential are: [1] Population, [2] Volume of Retail Sales, and [3] Income Tax Returns.

Liberty's circulation is concentrated by allotment in those communities where these three factors are present to the greatest degree. 100,000 people form its distributing organization—field men, wholesalers, retailers, boy salesmen.

They "follow through" in this work of allotment so that Liberty readers in each community form the active buying element.

This is one of the reasons why an advertising page in Liberty does more work.

Part of the Western Electric restaurant; a place where 3000 people may be served at one time.

Napoleon's idea works in Chicago too!

AN ARMY that fights valiantly must eat well. Which is as true today for an industrial city as when Napoleon said, "An army travels on its stomach."

Mess-call at the Western Electric Hawthorne Works last year summoned an army to over a million meals. In variety, wholesome food and in pleasant surroundings, few armies have fared so well.

It isn't only a question of the food but of the daily get-together at this great restaurant. In the cheery greeting, the relaxation from work, the interchange of ideas, Western Electric workers find here an understanding of one another's needs that helps in the making of good telephones.

Let's tell the world!
Chicago is just as truly the center for telephones as Pittsburgh for steel or Detroit for automobiles.

BREWERS WORK NIGHTS TO BREW ONTARIO'S BEER

Ferries Prepare for Rush of Yanks Tomorrow.

BULLETIN.

Toronto, Ont., May 19.—(Special.)—The Ontario government has warned holders of licenses to sell beer that their licenses will be revoked if they allow disorderly conduct by Americans when the beer flow begins.

Ottawa, Ont., May 19.—(Special.)—Twelve rivers of beer are flowing unimpeded to every point in Ontario that is within a radius of 100 miles of the United States border. With the government turning on the 44 per cent tax faucet Thursday, the province of Ontario over the week end expects the greatest rush of thirsty American visitors to her soil that she has had at any time in her history.

Tonight, to cope with the situation, the breweries are working double shifts and trains, motor cars, and motor boats are all carrying their big quotas of "wet goods" throughout the entire province and to all border points. On the St. Lawrence, Niagara, Detroit, and St. Clair rivers the customs and immigration departments have been informed that the ferry companies are putting on extra boats.

Customs Men to Be Strict.

The federal government has ordered that the customs and immigration officers on this side of the border see that federal laws are obeyed to the final letter. It is announced that the Ferguson government expects the United States' thirty visitors will leave $1,000,000 to the Ontario government treasury as a result of the tax that will be paid on the beer they buy. The Ontario license board has been devoting much of its attention to getting out permits for the hotels, and it is stated that in the great majority of cases this will have been accomplished by Thursday.

Great Demand for Brew.

Brewers say there has been a great demand for the new beverage and shipments are in full swing. A representative of one concern stated that the utmost efforts were being made to supply agencies throughout the province so that they would be in a position to deliver the beer Thursday. Hotel men express the opinion that the beer will be sold at 10 cents a glass and 25 cents for a pint bottle.

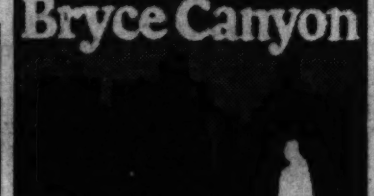

MEANS GIVES UP THE FIGHT; ASKS REFUGE IN CELL

Washington, D. C., May 19.—(A. P.)

With his back to the wall and facing renewed onslaughts by agents of the government, Gaston B. Means, investigator, extraordinary and central figure in many sensational episodes of recent American history, has sought refuge within the walls of Atlanta federal penitentiary.

Means' surrender came today in District of Columbia Supreme court when he asked to be allowed to begin a two year sentence imposed in New York on his conviction for conspiracy in connection with illegal whiskey withdrawals. Pending against him is a charge of forgery involving signing of the name of Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa and relating to documents figuring in the Daugherty investigation.

Sensational testimony was given by Means in the Daugherty inquiry.

CHAMBER OF U. S. FAVORS JOINING WORLD COURT

Young, Davis, Robinson Speak at Dinner.

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—American adherence to the world court was approved by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States through its board of directors today. More active participation by the United States in European affairs was advocated along various lines by speakers at a dinner tonight of the American section of the International Chamber of Commerce. Addresses were made by Owen D. Young and Henry M. Robinson, two of the Americans who participated in the framing of the League of Nations plan, and former Under Secretary of State Norman H. Davis, who agreed conspicuously in the international policies of the Wilson administration.

Board Adopts Report.
The board of directors of the United States Chamber adopted the report prepared by the chamber's committee on foreign affairs. The report urged that the United States take its place with other civilized nations to support the world court.

Mr. Davis was the most extreme of the speakers in proposing official participation by the United States in European affairs. He criticized the policy of the present administration of sending unofficial observers to European conferences and declared that the sentiment of the league of nations has steadily increased. He said that the United States should "support every genuine effort on the part of civilization to organize for peace."

Mr. Robinson said that the United States is in a position to be helpful to Europe, but that it should guard against attempting to force other nations "to adopt plans and rules that it can back and our conventions."

U. S. in Good Fortune.
"When a nation is in a position of extreme good fortune," he said, "it is likely to act in a manner similar to an individual who has had extreme good fortune, in that it is likely to have a great belief in its omniscience, and as a people the nation may attempt to become the doctor and the teacher for all the other nations less fortunately placed."

"Would it not be better for us to avoid as far as possible doctrinaire efforts to straighten out the tangled affairs of other nations, except in so far as the other nations may ask our aid, or in so far as the tangled conditions work directly adversely to our interests?"

RELATIVE WILL GIVE A HOME TO TORNADO WAIF

Childless families of Chicago who applied to the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society for permission to adopt Desanke Bosanic, a waif of the tornado of March 18, are doomed to disappointment. Partly through the assistance of This Tribune, which published Desanke's story May 18, the child has been claimed by a relative, a nephew of her dead father. He is now concluding arrangements to take her into his own home in Minnesota, and intends eventually to adopt her.

Gjuro Bosanic, father of Desanke, was killed at West Frankfort, Ill., while trying to reach his two children during the storm. The child's mother is in a hospital at Anna, Ill., afflicted with an inoperable illness, and will probably be deported to Yugoslavia.

Of the many children cared for by the society, in the days following the disaster, only four orphans remain. Although more than 150 applications for such children were made by Chicago people, it does not appear probable that any of them will be adopted here, C. V. Williams, superintendent, says.

"We pledged ourselves to keep the children as nearly as possible in their home district. Thus many families were reunited, and others taken into the homes of relatives. Some of these children will probably be turned back to us, being more of a burden than the families taking them can support."

WHITE WATER

By ROBERT E. PINKERTON

SYNOPSIS.

Larry, a handsome young woman, is convinced by Howard Franklin to become a hustling lady on Franklin's forest preserve. With the help of two friends, Eugene and Sid Evans, Larry works all through the winter. In the spring Franklin goes to inspect the cabins and finds them satisfactory. He goes to California to get the summer at the camp. Mrs. Franklin is interested in taking pictures of the camp and asks Larry to accompany her as guide on her photographic expeditions. On a trip Mrs. Franklin is not feeling well, Larry and Eugene go fishing. On their return Larry is unable to control her anger against Eugene for taking Larry. Two days later she resumes her photographic expeditions with Larry as her guide. On their return to camp a storm overtakes them and they go for shelter to a little cabin on the woods. Larry is terrified when she finds a man in the cabin. She goes to the door to see who it is. Larry suspects, and soon learned, that he was Eugene. He confesses to Larry that he is about to take over the Bagnall mill. A week later Larry meets Franklin at the mill, makes his report and Franklin offers him the job of running it. Larry accepts the position and Franklin returns to California. Sid Evans comes to the mill to work for Larry, and the latter learns from Old Eugene that Sid makes occasional visits to the Franklin camp to see Belda Franklin.

INSTALLMENT XXVII

MORE RESPONSIBILITY FOR LARRY.

Larry gave no thought to Eugene's last remark, but he was disturbed by what he had learned of Sid. He remembered having talked to Belda Franklin about his friend and that she had expressed a dislike for him. Now, in Sid's visits to the camp, he saw a thrust at himself and for the first time he felt resentment toward her.

He did not have to wait long to see the effects. Already Sid had lost the first interest in his new job. His morning trips to Sabawi for mail began to require more and more time. Larry suspected, and soon learned, that he was hanging over the hotel bar. Once or twice he was not entirely sober on his return.

Their personal relations also suffered through this change in Sid's attitude. Gradually a caustic note crept into Sid's banter and there were flares of the jealousy Larry had seen at the camp.

"Ten days more and the saw won't be screaming," he said.

"Stick around and talk to yourself if you want to," Sid called back one evening as he flung himself out of the office when Larry refused to accompany him to Sabawi. "Who do you think cares?" Franklin's forgotten he ever asked this dinky question. Did you suppose if he'd thought he had a chance to make money here he'd ever—

"Put me in charge," Larry finished for him.

"Sure," Sid grinned. "All I'm kicking about is that you don't seem to get the joke. Any man that would talk pretty to him and be able to read his mind could have a lot of fun."

An actual resentment of Sid's words was killed in Larry by the knowledge that this was Belda Franklin's interpretation of the situation. Once he would have made an effort to overcome this childish petulance, but now he was too busy. His time and energies were devoted to the mill. It was running smoothly, but the driving force came from him.

Each morning he stood beside the giant fly wheel as it made its first slow revolutions. And during the day he was everywhere. Not a detail in the operation of the mill escaped him and in addition to keeping the crew to record work he was scheming constantly for the coming winter. Every few days he made flying trips to the village with a team of light harness horses and a buggy. He watched the logs carefully and the progress of the work convinced him the four million feet would be saved.

His Sundays were the longest, hardest days of the week. The mill was idle and he was up at dawn, spending the day along the logging road, devising ways of eliminating the almost imperceptible grade over the low height of the road. It was when one of these excursions that he decided to speak to Sid.

"The fellow here before you was nearly three times as old as you and he had a mill was a month ahead of his pay check," he began the next afternoon when Sid returned from Sabawi several hours late.

"Ain't I doing the work?" Sid flared. "You ain't got any kick coming. Want me to hang around and watch the wheels go 'round all day like you do?"

"You know what I mean. When did you send money to your mother last?"

"None of your damned business."

"Don't be a fool, Sid. It ain't my business in a way, but we've been running up for quite a while now and you ought to know by this time how it goes."

"I don't know how you feel, but you act like an old hen with one chick. This is his going to your head. There won't be any living with you before long. Here's the mail. Letter from Burson. Maybe that'll take your mind off us for a while."

He took his time book and went out. He did not have the courage to try to reveal the resentment that had begun to fester, a resentment of Larry's popularity, of his success, of his ability to do things.

Larry absently sorted through the mail. His thoughts were still on the letter he began to read Burson's letter and then he sat up with a jerk.

"My Franklin has disposed of his Minnesota holdings," the general manager wrote, "and in the future will confine his attention to the coast mill. There is being moved at once to San Francisco. Because of the distance, I have decided that the entire management of the Ontario property will be turned over to you. This will entail no additional responsibility except the disposal of the product, although matters of policy will be left more completely to your hands, while practically all decisions will have to be made by you."

Then referred to this office with a list of possible markets and suggestions as to how to touch with prices. He also said that all accounting would have to be done at the mill and that this overhead would no longer be charged against the Ontario property in the head office. There were other suggestions, but Larry did not get them. He read the letter again and again, but only the principal fact remained in his mind—from growing to any lumber yard, the progress of logs and boards was wholly in his hands.

He was still staring at the letter when Sid came in from checking his time book. He was sober now and he did not wish a resumption of the discussion from which he had fled.

"Ten days more and that saw won't be screaming," he said. "The boom's in the air."

Larry did not seem to hear. He stared at his friend for a moment and then reached for a telephone book.

"Send me a little pity," he wrote. "Send me a good bookkeeper, some reliable man to run an office, that knows your ways and is honest enough not to steal from me. If he can run a typewriter it's better."

"Here," he said when he had finished. "Get this off quick as you can. I want to come back without taking a drink, too."

There was something in Larry's tone and manner that warned Sid of the importance of the telegram. He looked at it as soon as he was out of the office and determined to read Burson's letter. But that evening, when he was in the mill, a search of the desk failed to disclose it.

It was not entirely idle curiosity. Until the last few petulant outbursts, Larry had shared the details of the work with his friends in the manner in which he had shared his duties. All his weeklings, he found relief from his own burden in a sense of injury because an important change, possibly one to his own position, was being kept from him.

"Big stuff," he muttered. "The job's going to his head. There'll be something with him pretty soon."

Certainly It's an Age of Equal Rights for Marriage Mates

BY DORIS BLAKE

"Say, Doris," writes J. P. H., "the specifications drawn up and presented in your column the other day are extremely modest in comparison with the kind of man all the girls—even old maids—want these days. He only asked for twenty-four points of perfection in the girl."

"All the girls want is John D. Rockefeller, Rudolf Valentino, and St. Peter rolled into one man. Now be fair, Doris. Don't you think this is true?"

The specifications referred to by J. P. H. were submitted by one A. S., who was looking for a companion. Before he was willing to sign away his bachelor freedom, the applicant must prove her claims to twenty-four smart virtues, including beauty, patience and unselfish disposition; be well dressed, responsible, capable, economical, and answer to seventeen other points that would produce a perfect paragon of charm and usefulness about the house.

Maybe the girls didn't come back at A. S. with a few specifications for a perfect male counterpart. It sure is an age of equal rights where matrimonial demands are concerned. Just let a man raise his voice in this column, and he is flooded out of existence with objections from the very girls he ought to see the pile of letters inspired by A. S. They prove a man may ask for much in a matrimonial partner but, given the case, the woman asks for more. Some day I'll write a story on "What Folks Ask For and What They Manage to Scramble Along Without" just to prove that the man who said compromise built the happy marriage was right.

If the girls want their man a John D., Rudolf and St. Peter all rolled into one, you have got to present them the hand carved sugar lady for the ability to adjust themselves to what the Lord sends them instead, now, don't you, J. P. H.?

All of which goes to prove that if you give a woman a fairly good piece of material to work on, she can fashion a design that serves her matrimonial purposes quite well and happily, even though the dreams as the stitches. The same complaint may be extended to the other sex as well. They, too, want 'em handsome and salient and no objection if they are kin to the mint. But the manner in which they make compromise is equally admirable. There is no harm in either sex of us hitching our wagons to a star and taking an occasional joy ride on these airy flights of fancy, but for the joy of matrimony both sexes seem pretty well content with a side partner who lacks at least a few of the virtues which we set down when specifications of an ideal are called for.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Allowed No Freedom.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 17 and kept strict. I cannot go out and enjoy myself. My parents give me only two hours to go out on Sundays to see a moving picture. I cannot go to parties or dances with my girl friends or even speak to any of the boys. I get so lonesome at times because I cannot enjoy myself like the others. I would very much like your advice. Anxious."

A young lady of your age should be allowed the privilege of entertaining her friends in her own home and going out with them occasionally to parties and perhaps the movies. It is the only way to make and hold friends. Anxious. Try to make your parents realize you are no longer a child and that you must have some pleasures.

Sounds Unlikely.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am deeply in love with a fellow nearly one year my junior. Because of the difference in our ages his mother objects to his attention to me. As I love this boy and am quite sure he cares for me, do you think his mother is fair by objecting to our companionship? Shirley."

Shirley, I am afraid you haven't told it all. It isn't reasonable to assume that a mother will object to a friendship because of this slight difference in your ages. There must be some other reason, dear. Perhaps it is his youth, and you have allowed the affair to take on a serious aspect.

Wishes Come True.

When I was sixteen a girl friend told me I would make a wish and put it out under a tree and sit on it the wish would come true. Of course, I tried it. I wished a young man I cared quite a lot for would come to see me. Imagine my consternation when a voice said right at my elbow, "What in the world are you sitting there for?" I looked up, and there stood the young man and his mother. I am married now, and until this day my face burns when I hear anybody speak of wishes.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Chocolate Drop Icing.

The following old recipe used to be called a Spanish chocolate icing. It consists of a cooked milk icing with melted bitter chocolate spread over it, and when the cake is out the icing looks like a layer of black and white on the cake.

Put an ounce of unsweetened chocolate to melt over boiling water—enough for a small cake. Dissolve a cup and a half of sugar in a half cup of milk and cook to soft ball stage. It must not be overcooked. Take it from fire, add a little vanilla to flavor, and beat until white yet soft and creamy. If it is overcooked it will quickly get too stiff to spread. Spread it at once when it is at the right stage and then coat with the melted chocolate.

This old fashioned milk icing, fitted to the chocolate, is eminently worthy of the old fashioned inexpensive cakes on which it was long, long ago so popular. A one egg cake was thus made into a sort of bonbon.

A way to make a chocolate icing of milk chocolate shade is first to make what is called technically a royal icing, of egg white into which is beaten confectioner's sugar until a mixture of the right consistency is secured, and then to add to it a mixture made as follows:

Melt one ounce of chocolate with three tablespoons of sugar and one tablespoon of water. When it has melted pour it directly over a hot fire and stir until it is smooth and bright, then stir it into the white icing. It should be of a consistency to spread then without running off the cake.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Long for Music.

"Has any one an unwanted photograph to give to twelve girls in a tuberculosis sanatorium? We long for music so many times, but have no kind of instrument in our ward. The gift of a small victrola would mean so much to us, Miss Sally, and we have no money with which to buy one, although we could get together enough to pay the cost of shipping."

"Bertha is one of the twelve. They are in a Michigan sanatorium, and they are lonesome. Please write to us, if you can grant their wish, and if you want them to be happy."

"Offer of Tennis Racket." "I have a tennis racket which I wish to pass on to some one who will enjoy it and who does not feel able to play one."

There are free tennis courts in the city, and tennis is acknowledged to be one of the finest sports. Would you like to have this racket for your own?

COTTON MARKETS

Cotton markets had a better tone and prices advanced, but not to the last.

United States and Power A was again the feature of Chicago stocks yesterday, making another 4 1/2 point gain and closing at 66 as a result of renewed reports of a merger which has already been denied. Kraft Cheese advanced 1 1/2 in anticipation of the annual earnings statement, which shows a net of about $7 a share after all charges. Armour A gained 1/2, Stewart-Warner was up 1/2, and Hupp Motor closed 1/2 higher. Pines Winfront dropped 1/2 to 44, and Yellow Cab lost 1/2. Bendix closed unchanged. On small sales, gains were: Standard Gas and Electric, 3/4; Great Lakes Dredge, Armour of Illinois preferred, Crane, and Evans, 2 points each; United States and Power B preferred, 1/4, and Gosard and Armour of Delaware preferred, a point each. Quaker Oats declined 1/2, and Hurley Machine was a point lower.

TAP 4.4 BEER
ONTARIO TO
U. S. S Border Towns
for Big Trade
To Vote on Beer
The Wisconsin assembly approved a statewide referendum in 1935 on the issue of asking consumers to modify the Volstead act to permit beer, with the old time hard.

BY PHILIP KINSLER
(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Windsor, Ont., May 20.—(Sp.)—
After nine years of official Ontario province at midnight returns to the restricted sale beer, ale, and porter. But it be limited to 4.4 per cent of content.

Promptly at 7 a. m. the new rooms in sixteen hotels at Windsor will open for business. Householders may order beer from groceries at $17.6 a case. Government hotels may have a bar in their rooms. There will be no saloon bars. Sales will be
p. m.

In anticipation of a great rush
from Detroit, just across the river, hotels have put in large supplies of beer. There is no question of the supply, though the price will be high.

It is already hinted that the first opening day celebration something of a dud.

What Does 4.4 Beer Mean?
One explanation of the lack of an excitement may be due to the fact of just what 4.4 beer will be. This is the legal percentage of alcohol from 4.5 per cent under restrictions, has been placed on hotels and restaurants considered in Ontario is not held in any derive an intoxicating beverage. "Why go to Windsor, when you can get six and eight per cent beer?" they ask across the river.
But that involves subterfuge.
Higher price, the knowledge that drinking, which is still an unknown to the average American drinker.

Another fear? Has the Americans been educated away from the hard stuff? It is plain the section of Canada is looking to the American dollars and move to solve the pump question.

Like a Sobriety of Detroit
Although under another flag the Windsor, Ontario seems to be a residential portion of the great city center over the river.
There is back and forth, as the community of interest in this city.

The Ontario legislature, declined in 1934 in favor of the prohibition bill, has modified the language terms as to beer. It appears to be that the cities are capable of the bottle and wholesaling, and the majority was upheld by the city.

Support for the prohibition among the residents of the city that it would put the of business. This remains of the city.

If the people like the new legislation removes the
as they can get it open
city.

Big Revenue for Canada
Canada also gains a big revenue from the beer. The city is expected to make a big sum.

Businessmen expect many Americans that their personal business interfered with by the American club.
The Americans on the taken a team on an old are prepared to pay expenses
the drinking beverage.
much depends upon, which has the taste of them less prohibition drinks. The Windsor and are questioning this as the beginning of the high sides of the
is desired to be quenched to get the economic
to be 16 cents a glass
Locally Nonintoxicating.
Some who have tasted the new may say it is satisfactory because that it had some taste. It is better tasting. We will tell a man. This tomorrow night while fixing 4.4
